

National Motorcycle Museum

The National Motorcycle Museum lies at the hub of Britain's motorway network, minutes from the NEC, Birmingham International Airport and train station. Housing over 800 classic British motorcycles, spanning the 60 golden years of Britain's motorcycle manufacturing industry. The museum has been hailed as the foremost motorcycle museum in the world and provides a perfect setting for any conference, banquet or corporate event.

Built on our personal service and attention to detail, our conference facilities are second to none and the honour of being previously voted Britain's Best Non-Hotel Conference Venue, by the Country's professional conference organisers is testament to that fact.

Purpose built from the ground up, the magnificent Imperial Suite provides 1100 square metres of pure indulgence, with its state of the art audio visual system, fibrous plaster ceilings and cut glass crystal chandeliers it is ideal for large banquets or product launches. The newly refurbished and extended Britannia Suite, is ideal for larger parties and meetings, dinner dances and seminars with a capacity of over 900.

The Ballacraine and Bracebridge Suites will each accommodate 250 for a reception, while the Balcony Suite and Ward Room provide a more intimate atmosphere for smaller parties. Other suites all sumptuously appointed, are also available, with capacities up to 350.

Many of the Museum's 800 exhibits have their own individual stories, such as the Triumph Streamliner that set a World Land Speed record of 214 mph on America's Bonneville Salt Flats and the Norton that won the first ever TT race. Why not incorporate your corporate event with a tour of the museum?

With the Museum's acquisition of the Manor Hotel Meriden and the Windmill Village Hotel in Allesley, delegates can now enjoy luxurious overnight accommodation at favourable rates.
